Headline:
Sunny spells and widespread, possibly thundery showers continue.

Today:
A rainy start for many, with this heavy in places, before it clears eastwards by midday. Widespread, possibly thundery showers follow for the rest of the day, heaviest in the east and over the Pennines. Becoming breezy, especially along coasts. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Scattered sharp showers linger through the evening before clearing northwards going overnight, although a scattering of showers persists throughout the night across Cumbria. Winds easing. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Monday:
Another day of sunny spells and widespread afternoon showers, these heavy and possibly thundery at times before they ease into the evening. Breezy throughout, especially along coasts. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Drier Tuesday, with sunny spells and less frequent showers than recently. Cloudier Wednesday but staying largely dry, before rain arrives overnight and into early Thursday; dry following this. Feeling warmer.
